Student teachers going to China for internship

Student teachers from the University of Cincinnati have become Shawnee State University students this semester in order to intern in China. In an agreement with Chinese universities, for every student they have coming to Shawnee State University, SSU needs a student to go to China. More Chinese students signed up for the program than U.S. students, so SSU has recruited students from the University of Cincinnati. From left, Laura Maile, Livie Dilts, John Michael Bessey and Zach Sawan are at the Center for International Programs and Activities during Orientation.
